

Juan (Joan) Genesca-LLongueras

Dpto. Ingenieria Metalurgica. Facultad Quimica. Universidad Nacional Autonoma de Mexico, UNAM. Ciudad Universitaria. CDMX.

Juan Genesca received the BSc and EngD degrees in chemical engineering from the Chemical Institute of Sarria, Ramon Llull University, Barcelona, in 1976 and 1980.

He is currently a Full Professor of Corrosion Engineering and Electrochemistry at UNAM. Since 2011 he has held the position of Academic Coordinator of the Polo Universitario de Tecnologia Avanzada, PUNTA-UNAM located in the Parque de Investigacion e Innovacion Tecnologica, PIIT, UNAM, Apodaca, NL.

He has supervised 35 master's theses and 18 engineering doctorates. Dr. Genesca has published more than 150 documents (<https://www.scopus.com/authid/detail.uri?authorId=55666986300>), 140 full-length peer-reviewed conference papers, and co-authored five books. His current research interests include galvanic corrosion in the automotive sector, atmospheric corrosion, cathodic protection, flow accelerated corrosion (FAC), and CO₂/H₂S corrosion.

Dr. Genesca is on the Editorial Board of the journal Afinidad, Barcelona, a corresponding member of the Institut d'Estudis Catalans, Barcelona, and currently a member of the Societat Catalana de Quimica, SMEQ, NACE International, and The Electrochemical Society.